Some of the most important landmarks in the United States include feats of architecture and modern engineering. San Francisco is a beautiful city on its own, but it is also home to the Golden Gate Bridge, a 1.7-mile suspension bridge connecting the San Francisco Peninsula to the Marin Headlands. The bridge is recognized as one of the 20th century's seven Wonders of the Modern World in civil engineering by the American Society of Civil Engineers.

One of the most popular ways to appreciate the bridge is to take an excursion to the Golden Gate National Recreation Area just outside of San Francisco. The park contains hiking trails, great spots for picnicking, and some of the best vantage points for panoramic photos of the bridge leading into the city.

Last month, some of David's friends came to San Francisco. They made a visit to the Golden Gate National Recreation Area where they enjoyed walking through the trails, watching the native wildlife, and having a picnic in the park. David's friends were thankful that he guided them through this impressive area. They made sure to take a group photo with the Golden Gate Bridge in the background. They had the picture framed and presented it to David to thank him for his hospitality during their stay.
