Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the followings.

Learning quickly means understanding the topic clearly and breaking it into smaller, easier parts. Even though some people learn faster than others, everyone can improve with practice and patience. To make learning easier, try to enjoy the topic by linking it to your interests. Also, focus only on your study material and avoid doing other things at the same time. If you feel something too hard, separate it into short and simple steps to help you understand it better.

Another key point is to study regularly and at the right time. Studies show that people often learn best in the afternoon, when they are quicker to think and notice things. Practice every day and take time to review what you've learned. This helps your brain remember the information. Getting feedback from teachers or others helps you correct mistakes and understand things better. Also, don't forget to sleep well, because sleep helps your memory and thinking skills.

You can also use memory tricks to learn faster. Try to use pictures or drawings to remember new facts. Repeat information many times to help your brain keep it. A helpful trick is to imagine placing the new information in familiar places, like your home. These methods make learning easier and more fun.

How smart is your home?

Smart homes have (31) _____ recently. Many of us now say "Turn on the central heating", and the room starts to get warmer. We tap a button on our mobile and the kettle boils. With just a few taps, the air conditioning stops working. So, what's the future for smart home technology? Well, first we will be able to connect all of our (32) _____ devices at home to one remote control. That will require little effort and make it much easier for us to set up (33) _____ machines so that they're ready to be used and managed.

The machines in our houses are becoming more useful so we use less energy and save money. In the future, this is going to happen more. Perhaps your TV will switch off when it senses you have fallen asleep. (34) _____
